

Corrections to National Science Museum Monographs, Number 34,
“Faunistic Review on the Pselaphine Species Known from New Zealand
(Insecta, Coleoptera, Staphylinidae)” by Nomura and Leschen (2006)

In the above paper, the author Nomura misunderstood the validity of a species in the checklist of pselaphine species from New Zealand. The valid name of this species should be corrected as shown below. Additionally, an erratum of publishing year of a cited literature is also corrected. I am much indebted to Dr. Alfred F. Newton in the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago for noticing my mistake.
